

Agile Explorers

Plastic Plants Uprooted! COOL WORKSPACE APPEARS!

Our Shared Services coworkers, Curtis Dickens and Dudley Thompson, welcome a new collaborative workspace to SP3S.

As part of an ongoing revitalization effort for the Chattanooga Office Complex, Facilities Management removed a planter/bench and installed the first of several new types of collaboration workspaces. These will appear on each building's Main Street (3rd floor on the side where the atrium is wider) and complement the café areas also being constructed.

Knoxville has seen the addition of whiteboard walls in select conference rooms and similar ideas are hoped to be implemented in Chattanooga as well.

These efforts and others, help us break out of normal routines, improve collaboration and establish new and more flexible ways to accomplish our work.

Oh yeah, they're installing new MP carpet in FY15 too!

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What types of Agile classes are available?

A: There are classes for teams, managers, project managers, operations, architects, and business partners.

Q: I don't see security, business analysts, et al., listed above. What does that mean?

A: It only means that you will most likely participate in the team class (and possibly additional classes depending on your specific role/responsibilities).

Q: How do I sign up for a class?

A: Teams will be asked to participate as a group. Managers will be notified when team members have a class date/time identified and a meeting notice will be sent out to confirm attendance.

Q: Where can I ask more questions?

A: The Agile Explorers Yammer group or any of the key contacts listed to the right.

Key Contacts

Program Manager: Tony R. Harper

Enterprise Information Security & Policy: Tony Suarez

Enterprise Architecture & Programs: Steve Adams

Enterprise Solutions Delivery: Keith Madison

Operations Solutions Delivery: John Bowe

Infrastructure Delivery: David Baker

Enterprise Customer Operations: Erica Jolly